Pallet wrapping needn't cost the earth. Companies seeking to reduce their expenditure on, and consumption of, pallet wrapping material need look no further than Agritel's range of high-performance stretchwrap. Switching from standard to high-performance film brings the dual benefit of saving money and reducing environmental impact.

"Our high-performance film is very strong and each roll goes an incredibly long way," explains John Duffus, Managing Director. "Trials show that it's possible to reduce the quantity of plastic used by as much as 60%, generating significant cost savings.

"What's more, because the film is pre-stretched, pallet stability is improved and goods are far less likely to suffer damage in transit."

But the benefits don't stop once the goods have reached their destination.

Less plastic to wrap a pallet means less plastic to dispose of by recycling or sending to landfill. "It's an important consideration, especially with landfill tax scheduled to double over the next three years," explains John. "High-performance film will help your customers meet their environmental obligations and reduce their waste disposal costs.

"Raw material prices are continuing to rise, and the pressure is on to reduce waste. There's never been a better time to try high-performance wrap."
